Stockholm Stream selected as "Preferred Technology Vendor" in Amazon Prime's Exclusive Global Program

STOCKHOLM, February, 2025 - Stockholm Stream Media AB, a leading provider of SaaS solutions for video and metadata distribution to Video-On-Demand (VOD) platforms, is proud to announce its selection as one of only four global "Preferred Technology Vendors" (PTV) within Amazon Prime's prestigious Preferred Vendor Services Program. This recognition highlights Stockholm Stream's unparalleled ability to deliver content to Amazon Prime with exceptional efficiency and reliability.

Founded in 2018 by Patrik Littmann and Per Atterving, Stockholm Stream has rapidly become a trusted partner for both Swedish and international clients. Its flagship platform, Delta, serves as the backbone for tailored delivery, rights management, and media asset management (MAM) solutions. With successful implementations for platforms such as Amazon Prime, Apple TV, Comcast and Vimeo, Stockholm Stream has consistently demonstrated its expertise in managing complex workflows and high-volume deliveries.

"Being named a Preferred Technology Vendor for Amazon Prime is a significant milestone for Stockholm Stream," said Patrik Littmann, CEO of Stockholm Stream. "This recognition reflects the dedication of our team and the robust capabilities of our Delta platform. It also underscores our commitment to delivering best-in-class solutions that meet the exacting standards of the global streaming industry."

This achievement builds on Stockholm Stream's history of innovation and success. The company has delivered content to leading video platforms worldwide by consistently meeting the demanding technical specifications required for deliveries to Amazon Prime, Apple TV, Comcast, and similar platforms. As a result of the PTV designation, the company will accelerate its global expansion, with a particular focus on growth in North America.

Over the past year, the company has been dedicated to automating services and developing AI-driven solutions, particularly in subtitle automation and quality control. This commitment has now led to Amazon naming Stockholm Stream a Preferred Technology Vendor.
